

One day, One year, Changed everything

They heard their friends screaming.

They saw the horror of them dropping to the dirty ground

They felt their hearts breaking.

On one day, in one year, which changed everything.

They heard the gunshot.

They saw another horse lose it's rider.

They felt waves of anger washing over them.

On one day, in one year, which changed everything.

They heard nothing but silence.

They saw the white flag with one meaning.

They felt victory and freedom.

On one day, in one year, which changed everything.

They heard what we will never hear.

They saw what we will never see.

They felt feelings we will never feel.

Because in one day, in one year, they changed everything.

By Freya 5P